NERVOUS FOLKS.

Way in Which They May Be Cured of Their Nervousness Without Medicine.

"Nervous folks" are as plenty as "files in June." and they are just as tiresome and annoying to both themselves and their friends as a whole army of files. Many of them know it, most of them don't, and that's why prominent physicians are recommending everybody to drink "Kling's Ambrosia," not a medicine, but a delicious and refreshing summer drink.

It is absolutely non-intoxicating, yet has a full hop flavor, and will tickle the eye, palate, and stomach. It soothes the nerves and braces up the circulatory system and removes all trace of nervousness. For those who are unable to take much exercise it is invaluable, relieving that tired, worn-out, and restless condition, while athletes and others who are ever "on the go," will agree that it completely knocks out the ordinary so-called "hop and malt tonics."

pletely knocks out the ordinary so-called "hop and mait tonics."

If you give it one trial, you will never again want to drink any of the ordinary insipid summer drinks, many of which are unhealthy.

"Kling's Ambrosia" is made only by Philip Kling Company, Detroit, Mich., and is on sale by nearly all grocers and druggists. If your dealer does not sell same, he can obtain it for you, or you can send a postal to the address below. Be sure you refuse all substitutes, many of which are harmful—in fact, there are already several substitutes on the market, and even ordinary beer has been sold by unscrupulous dealers as Ambrosia. Look for the trade-mark (the letter K) and the signature of Philip Kling on every bottle, and in case of substitution notify Joseph A. De Longe, 435 Seventh street, Buffalo, N. Y., General Agent.
